

Transition Summer 2022 Reflective Essay and Deliverables

You've just completed the inaugural Transition Summer! We are all excited to learn about your experiences and how they connect to transformational leadership. It's time to reflect!

Summer reflections are powerful learning tools. Of course, they'll help you understand and appreciate what you've done this summer. They also give you a platform to think about your next steps and give you a way to draw a thread through your college experiences. Our team also learns a great deal from your reflections. When we look at your collection of reflections and proposals, starting with Community Summer, we can see your growth as a leader-- we can see your transformation. Your reflections, over time, give us excellent insights into that and help us inform programmatic design. Our Robertson Community also is strengthened by the insights and wisdom each member shares in these reflections. For your cohort, that larger community includes our Alumni. Unless you ask us not to, we'll share your essays with those who reviewed your proposal. We believe this will affirm their contribution and will deepen their learning experience. Without your contributions we are not whole.

We take your word and your work seriously and know that you will, too, in approaching this final activity for Transition Summer. We share guidelines below for the reflection, but we ask you to remember that this is your work—a reflection on your Summer. Write what makes sense for your experience. Give yourself the time and space to make this a meaningful activity.

We are asking that you complete your reflection while it's fresh and submit it by September 15. This timeline allows us to honor our word on the following commitments:

- We will read and respond to each reflection;
- We will draw on your reflections as we continue to support you in your leadership journey;
- We will reflect as a program staff on what we've learned and how to strengthen programming moving forward; and
- We will communicate back to the cohort key learnings that surfaced across the collective.

If you're not able to submit these materials by September 15, we ask that you communicate with Vicki as soon as you know and make a counterproposal, which includes the new date by which you will submit your reflection. We see this as another powerful opportunity to explore integrity at the level of self and the group, strengthening our individual and collective word.

Abstract and Reflective Essay (suggested 5-7 double-spaced pages):

First, please write a Title and a short Abstract, as you would for a journal. This will be uploaded into Robertson Connect. Vicki forgot to include this in the proposal instructions for most of you. :)

For the essay, some of the prompts below might be helpful. You do not need to address all (or any) of them. You may want to read over your proposals to remind yourself of your motivations and goals.

- What did you learn about yourself through Transition Summer?
  - What insights have you gained about transformational leadership, from Transition Summer or through all your Robertson experiences?
  - You did a lot of thinking and writing about curiosity in the proposal process. What's the status now that you've completed Transition Summer?
  - You also considered commitments. What commitments have emerged or changed?
  - What role(s) did your Summer Coach play in your Summer? Was your Coach as involved as you had hoped?

- How does Transition Summer help you make sense of all you've done as a Robertson? How does this experience help you move forward?

Deliverables

- If the Deliverable you're submitting is not the one you proposed, please explain.
- If you've already shared Deliverables with Vicki, please remind her!
